Part 3

Recreate your Life - the step-by-step process

There are twelve key steps to Recreating Your Life!

That is one step each day for two weeks.

However, you can work through the course at your own pace.

It can be useful to read through the whole course, as quickly as you like – perhaps all in one day.

And then read it through again, more slowly.

Sometimes, only a few of the steps are required, such as when you need to create something very quickly, without notice or fore-warning.

For larger, longer term projects, all twelve steps might well be necessary.

This might seem to be more 'work' than you would like, but every step is simple – and most take only a few minutes to accomplish.

Step 1

3.1 - Where Are You Now?

What you have and where you are today are the results of all the choices and decisions you have made during your life so far. Many of your choices have been passive, made without conscious examination. Many have been based on your past programming, rather than on your new unlimited thinking which is shown by your decision to read this course. You can begin now to make more conscious, self-aware choices.

Acknowledge that where you are today is a result of your past choices, and realize that, at every moment, you are truly creating your reality. If you are not happy with what you have created so far, you can learn to make different choices and change your life into one that brings you joy, aliveness, or whatever else you want.

My beliefs create good things for me

You will want to allow success into your life so that you can receive what you ask for. Start by taking small actions that honour yourself. Think of something really nurturing and luxurious that you would like to do for yourself. Perhaps you would like to soak in a warm bath, buy flowers for your house, or take a half-hour for yourself every day. Taking the time to do nurturing activities gives your subconscious a message that you are a worthy person who deserves to have your goals met.

I honour myself in everything I do

The more you feel joyful when you do things and follow your urges, hunches and higher vision, the more quickly and easily you will get what you ask for. As you follow your higher path, the more you will find everything working in miraculous and easy ways. This is not to say that you won't be challenged, for challenges help you to gain strength and confidence. Your dreams will come true as you follow your feelings of joy, delight and self-love.

3.1.1 - Self-esteem

How Do You Feel About Yourself?

Self-esteem - how we feel about ourselves - is a very important factor that affects how successful we can be in creating whatever we truly desire.

Our self-ideal may or may not be realistic and our self image may or may not be consistent with reality or consistent with the way other people see us, but our self esteem, how we feel about ourselves, is always true, whether positive or negative, high or low. It is always true. And the best definition of self esteem is how much you like yourself.

One very effective way to increase our self-esteem is to use affirmations. These cost nothing, they take no time to do – and they can produce truly amazing results!

Affirmations are positive thoughts that are repeated over and over. As you repeat them, they go directly to your subconscious where they begin to manifest as your reality.

Saying 'I like myself', 'I feel terrific', 'I am responsible', confirms the way that you feel about yourself, makes you feel good about yourself, and powers you forward to perform everything that you do much more effectively.

We cover affirmations in more detail later.

3.1.2 - The people in your life

How are they affecting you, what are they doing? Are they helping, are they hindering? What have you learned from them, what gifts have you received disguised as problems.

In which ways are you stronger now because someone has come into your life? And although we might think that they have been a pain, in what ways have they actually strengthened you and helped you to be more independent?

They are helping you to be and to become the person that you are and the person that you will become. Perhaps they are teaching you understanding, tolerance, patience, forgiveness, love, unconditional love – teaching you how to love without needing to receive anything in return.

It can be interesting – and useful – to draw up a list of everything and everybody that we do not like in our lives, the challenges, the problems, the work or the job and the people that we do not like.

It is important to nurture your self-awareness. Self-awareness entails taking stock of yourself as an individual, your current level of power and surrounding environment, including the people in your circle. With awareness, you can begin to identify those things and people that trigger negative feelings and outcomes, that are holding you back from living your own life. Then you can start to disassociate from them, thereby enabling yourself to 'reclaim your power'.

This can enable you to see that perhaps things are not really so bad, that you are learning something from each situation, that everything and everybody is in the right place at the right time to help us to grow.

Maybe they are here for a reason, for a purpose, maybe they are there to help us to look at something in a different way – to struggle, to overcome, to endure, to win through.

Step 2

3.2 - Removing Clutter From Your Life

3.2.1 - The Importance of De-Cluttering

Objects have energy. You feel the energy of the objects around you at a subtle level, so surround yourself only with those items that you love and feel connected to. Broken or useless possessions clutter your energy. It is wise to keep the things around you in good repair, so there is order and harmony about you. Keep around you only those things you value and appreciate, and they will reflect that higher energy back to you.

Spend a moment now to look around your home. Are you keeping objects that don't serve you any more? Pick one of those objects and let it go – give it to a friend, recycle it or sell it. You have just created the space for something even better to come into your life.

I surround myself with things that reflect my aliveness and energy

The inner world is a reflection of the outer world, and vice versa. The events and circumstances of your physical life can indicate the direction of your internal energies, and can have a profound impact on your inner nature.

Clutter and disorganization can reflect inner turmoil, and they can create internal chaos where none previously existed. Therefore, it is imperative that you create an atmosphere of cleanliness and order so you can focus your energies in the most efficient manner possible.

Often, it can be difficult to work on an important project when your office or living area is messy and cluttered. Not only is there the obvious disadvantage of having to sort through the clutter to find what you need, but there is the chance that your mind will be unable to relax and focus because it is worried about the outer disorder.

It is even possible for excessive physical clutter to result in mild to severe neurosis. Keeping your desk, office, living area, car, etc. free from clutter is far more important that you might have previously realized.

Have you ever noticed how recharged, even invigorated, you feel after cleaning out a messy wardrobe or kitchen cupboard? This is partially due to the release of endorphin chemicals in your brain; hence the power derived from order and neatness is not just mental!

When your physical life is in disarray, the odds are that your thinking will become restless and unclear. This will result in a tremendous loss of productivity and a great deal of wasted energy.

If you have been stressed out over a particularly cluttered area of your life, inside or out, stop and take an honest look at how this has prevented you from performing at peak levels.

Have you been spending precious time and energy regretting the clutter throughout the day? The minute you find clutter and disorder are hijacking your thought process, resolve to organize the problem area.

But be careful not to tip the scales in the opposite direction. Being obsessively neat is just as detrimental as being disorganized, because you could spend more time cleaning and arranging than focusing on your vision and taking appropriate action.

3.2.2 - How to Manage Your Stress by Staying Organized

Being organized may not seem like a powerful technique when it comes to reducing stress. After all, we mostly hear of methods like meditation, controlled breathing, visualization, as being effective for managing stress. No one really talks about being neat and organized.

Yet, keeping things simple and organized is one of the best ways to reduce irritation in your life. When you minimize irritation and frustrations, you also help yourself to de-stress without realizing it.

For example, if your desk at work is cluttered and you can't find a document that you need, you'll end up searching for it and wasting time and effort. If you can't find it after a few minutes of searching, you're going to lose patience and start getting irritable. It's definitely going to stress you out.

This applies to any area in your life. Can't find your car keys just when you're about to leave the house?

That's aggravating. Sat down on the chair to watch TV but the remote control is nowhere in sight? How annoying, as you flip over the couch cushions.

All these little stresses, when repeated on a daily basis, will lead to frazzled nerves and an irritable nature that gets triggered easily. All of these could have been avoided if you were organized.

One of the best ways to reduce stress is to be neat and tidy. Like Benjamin Franklin once said, "A place for everything and everything in its place."

Tidy up your home, your office, your desk, your everything.

Whatever you use should be neat and organized.

That essentially means sorting everything and only keeping what you need. This is known as decluttering. You'll store whatever you need in its rightful place. You clean up after yourself and strive to maintain this sense of order each day.

If you can maintain this on a regular basis, you'll find that your life becomes much easier. Like they say, organized people are just too lazy to look for things - and you won't have to because you'll know exactly where everything is.

Imagine the amount of stress you won't have to face from constantly looking for misplaced items.

Keep a List of jobs To Do

One of the biggest reasons that people feel overwhelmed is because they try to keep too many things in their head. Projects, family commitments, pending things that need to be done - and there are so many things to do but not enough time to get them done.

Mentally it all seems like too much to handle. The first thing to do is write down all that you need to do. Keep a list and add on to it whatever new issues crop up that need to be taken care of.

Now you have a list of exactly what you need to do and it will seem more manageable. In your head, it all seems too much to handle. Once you have it on paper and you start checking off what you need to do, you'll be more focused, less stressed and be amazed at how fast you complete your tasks.

"Life is too complicated not to be orderly." – Martha Stewart

3.2.3 - Exercise

Change – change your routine - just in small, simple ways.

Perhaps change your home in some way – move your furniture around, so that the energy in your home is moved.

If you always put your left shoe on before your right shoe, change the sequence and put your right shoe on first.

Clutter – perhaps give away some belongings, ornaments, books, that you don't even notice any more – to allow fresh energy to come into your home and into your life.

I surround myself with things that increase my passion

Step 3

3.3 - Abundance is Possible

3.3.1 - What is possible

I live in an abundant universe

We live in the richest, most abundant society in human history. We have living standards and opportunities undreamed of just a few years ago, and still the vast majority of men and women, as Theroux said, "lead lives of quiet desperation". They are unhappy with their work, they are unhappy with their families, they are unhappy with their health, they are overweight, they smoke too much, or drink too much, or worry about their finances, all of the time.

I picture abundance for myself and others

It is better not to speak of failure or lack. Words affect your subconscious, which hears what you say and goes to work directly to make your words come true. The words, "I do not have enough money" go directly to your subconscious, which begins creating lack. Rather than saying, "I can't afford to buy this", say "I choose not to buy this at this time".

To increase your prosperity, talk about your abundance. Words are important. Everything you say has the potential to create the reality that you experience. The universe responds to your positive talk. Even if you do not have something you want in your life right now, if you begin to talk and act as if you are certain you will have it, then you will draw to you the circumstances to have it.

I choose to live an abundant life

Talk about your visions and your dreams – speak of what is good in your life right now and how positive you feel about the future. If you do not have enough money, pretend that you do have all the money you need and let the emotion of prosperity come into your body. Create a vision of abundance and soon the world will reflect it back to you.

I accept prosperity and abundance into my life

It is good to appreciate the feeling of abundance, in order to bring more abundance into your life. You will have had the experience of feeling abundant at some time in your life, even if just for a moment, and you can re-live that time.

I always have everything I need

Step 4

3.4 - Inspiration

3.4.1 - Creativity - Making It Really Simple

The thinking of expert psychologists like Jung, and psychic phenomenon experts like Dr Lyall Watson, all refer to, and accept, the idea of a 'collective consciousness'. This is a mind beyond yourself. It's as if the creative thinking of all human beings in the past hovers in the air invisibly by itself. One way of describing this is to consider that somewhere out there, in the great unknown, is an 'ideas transmitter' and your mind is not a creator of ideas, but an ideas receiver, like a radio. I prefer to refer to the source of this as Universal Energy.

Communication with Universal Energy is a two-way process – from your Conscious Mind to your Subconscious Mind to Universal Energy - and also from Universal Energy to your Subconscious Mind to your Conscious Mind.

3.4.2 - Conscious and Unconscious

Your Conscious mind is there to deal with your daily living, make decisions and decide your future. It is also the processing unit for your Subconscious. The conscious is there to give precise instructions to your subconscious. These instructions must be simple, logical and definite. Your subconscious mind uses less than 0.5 per cent of its own capacity to work your bodily functions, drive the car and all the other mundane things, and uses the remaining 99.5 per cent to turn your instructions into a new reality. It is changing the rules to suit you. It is assisting you to create whatever you truly desire.

Most people think that the best way, and perhaps the only way, to create whatever you truly desire is by activity, such as by setting goals.

However, the ways in which we receive ideas, inspiration and solutions from Universal Energy are mainly passive. There are several techniques, which take very little action on our part, and yet are great at stimulating creativity. If you use these techniques on a regular basis, you can greatly increase the quality of your results and your effectiveness, moving yourself rapidly toward the accomplishment of your important goals.

3.4.3 – Universal Energy and Listening to the Whispers

Universal Energy is able to bring us ideas that lie outside our own individual experience. It releases ideas and energy for goal attainment. When we set goals, we use our conscious mind. These are picked up by our subconscious – which is able to work much more closely with Universal Energy. Our subconscious is our connection with Universal Energy. It is a direct connection, but very, very few people are aware of this.

A number of creative people are well known to have received creative ideas from outside of themselves, such as Mozart, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Beethoven, Edison and Faraday. Many of the great poems and great stories and great songs, and many of the great creations of human history, have been written word perfect the very first time.

These are all examples of the Universal Energy capability that is available to each and every one of us. Paul McCartney had a dream of the melody for the song "Yesterday", woke up and wrote it down.

Sometimes, when we feel that we are not achieving our goals, it is because we are not obeying the goal-setting rules, we are not using the techniques properly. However, at other times it is because Universal Energy, which can see the bigger picture, knows that the time is not right for us. Universal Energy will bring you exactly the answer that you require in order to solve your problem or achieve your goal at exactly the right time for you.

That is why it is so important to 'listen to the whispers', messages that come to us from Universal Energy.

Universal Energy knows the right time better than you do and the most important thing you can do is to act on it immediately when the answer comes to you. You must immediately implement the intuition or flash of insight or idea that comes to you.

I trust that everything comes at the perfect time and in the perfect way

3.4.4 Exercise:

Listen to the Whispers

Take notice of "co-incidences" that take place.

Think about how you might have "created" them.

Write down several "co-incidences" that occur during this coming week.

Step 5

3.5 - Techniques to Increase your Creativity

3.5.1 - Intuition

While we are going about our daily business, driving along, or in a conversation or working on a job, we can suddenly become aware of an idea, or just a feeling, that has come into our mind. This has been called the still small voice within. This feeling or idea usually indicates that something is either right or wrong, and it is usually an absolutely correct indication for us.

It is always best to listen to our intuition, or to our gut feeling, before making any major decision.

3.5.2 - Chance Encounters

We often find that Universal Energy works in unpredictable and unexpected ways. Sometimes, someone will telephone us and, in the course of conversation, we will find they have the solution we need.

Sometimes we will open the newspaper or open a magazine and there will be an article that contains exactly the solution to the dilemma we have.

Sometimes, we will meet somebody casually who will make a suggestion to us that will turn out to be the perfect solution to the major problem or challenge or goal that we are working on.

Take notice of these chance encounters, because they might well have the ideal solution for you. Almost invariably, answers and inspiration come in ways that are totally unexpected, not in the ways that we would logically expect. Some people call it "listening to the whispers".

3.5.3 - Sleep

Many people receive inspirations and solutions as they are falling asleep, when their conscious mind is dropping into alpha or when their conscious mind is coming up through alpha.

Alpha brainwaves are present during daydreaming, fantasizing and visualization. They are associated with a relaxed, detached awareness and with a receptive mind. Alpha provides the bridge between the conscious and subconscious mind. Through alpha, you can remember your dreams when you awaken, you can recall your meditation.

That is a time when we are especially closely connected to Universal Energy. That is why it is so important to repeat to ourselves,

"I wake up in the morning feeling terrific", as we are falling asleep.

Also, the first hour of the morning is a powerful time for stimulating super-conscious creativity.

That is why it is so important to repeat to ourselves, "I feel terrific", as we get out of bed, to rewrite our goals (see Step 7) soon after we get out of bed, and to visualize the attainment of those goals. All of this connects directly with our subconscious.

3.5.4 - Solitude

This is being alone, in silence, sitting down perfectly quietly, still and doing absolutely nothing for 30 to 60 minutes. Do not play music or drink coffee – simply sit quietly. This is one of the most powerful ways to get answers to your problems. Your mind will begin to flow with ideas and the answers to your most pressing problems or to your most important goals in your life at that moment.

3.5.5 - Meditation

Deep relaxation and meditation is very effective. Sit very quietly, for about 10 to 20 minutes, close your eyes, breathe deeply and count down from fifty to one, or from a hundred down to one, with your eyes closed and just completely relax, letting your mind go calm. During that period of complete calmness, you will be allowing ideas and inspiration to flow into your mind. Sometimes, they will come immediately after you have finished meditating.

3.5.6 - Nature

This is a method which has been used by some of the most creative men and women of all history. Surround yourself with a natural environment, perhaps going for a walk quietly, sitting in a meadow, or sitting by a river or the ocean. This is one of the most powerful ways to stimulate creativity. We are each a creature of nature and the closer we get back to nature in a relaxed way, the more rapidly and the better our minds work.

3.5.7 - Classical Music

Listening to beautiful classical music by Mozart, Beethoven, Bach and any of the classical composers, just letting the music flow through you, can stimulate your brain and open you up like a receiving station to super-conscious ideas, insights and inspiration.

3.5.8 - Mind Storming

Mind Storming is an active way of stimulating the super-conscious mind and is very simple. It consists of sitting down, quietly, with a pad of paper, taking your major problem or goal and writing it at the top of the pad in the form of a question. Then force yourself to write twenty answers to that question. Allow your mind to flow freely and write every answer you can possibly think of, without being inhibited in any way.

It is important to force yourself to write twenty answers to the question, because it is often the last four or five answers that are gold nuggets. The first three to five answers will come easily, but the remainder will be increasingly difficult to get hold of. However, the last few answers will often be the most precious and the most valuable of all.

It is important that you take at least one of the answers that you have generated and implement it immediately. It will be very effective.

3.5.9 - Important Features of Inspiration from Universal Energy

You can recognize inspiration and ideas that come into your mind from Universal Energy by these three features.

3.5.9.1 - Totally Complete

The idea will come into your mind 100 per cent complete. It will be total in every respect. It will cover every single aspect of the problem and answer every single part of the dilemma. It will be a complete answer.

3.5.9.2 - Obvious

A super-conscious solution will be a blinding flash of the obvious. Almost in every case it will be so obvious, so simple, that you will tend to wonder why you hadn't already thought of it! The reason that you hadn't thought of it is that it was too early, that you were not ready for the answer. But, when the solution does come, the timing will be exactly right.

3.5.9.3 - Joy and Energy

The solution will cause you to feel a burst of joy and energy, a feeling of elation and excitement, physically and mentally. Every super-conscious solution comes with the energy, the inspiration, the motivation and the excitement that causes you to want to implement it immediately.

3.5.10 - Conclusion

This opens up whole new horizons of possibility. It means that creative people are not creative, but that they are just tuned in to ideas that settle in their minds from the great unknown. Your mental capacity has nothing to do with it. The ideas are out there and all you have to do is to draw them to you.

There must be a connection between your mind and the world outside of yourself - a mental network connection with the universe. The 95 per cent of your brain, the subconscious, that we currently think is just sitting there, is in fact your communications centre. It is your connection to the greater universal consciousness - to Universal Energy. You have a direct connection with Universal Energy - and this provides you with the ability to create whatever you truly desire.

3.5.11 - Exercises

3.5.11.1 - Creativity Exercise

Think about the ways you find you receive ideas, inspiration, creativity.

If no obvious ways come to you, try walking alone in Nature, or light a candle and sit quietly, alone, looking at it for about 30 minutes or so.

Write down any ideas that come to you, even if they seem silly. You might be surprised how they develop over time into something important.

3.5.11.2 - Listen to the Whispers again

Take notice of more "co-incidences" that have taken place.

Think about how you might have "created" them.

Write down several more that occur during this coming week.

Step 6

Decisions and Goals

3.6.1 - Decision - What Do You Want To Create?

A decision is a conscious process. Unlike animals, humans have the ability to consider the future. We can make decisions that affect us now, such as when we are shopping, and also we can make decisions that are placed on hold for the future, like where to go for next year's holiday or vacation.

Both these kinds of decision leave no room for doubt, no room for disbelief. The decision to buy a particular brand of toothpaste is done and finished the moment it is in the shopping basket. The decision to go to Mexico next year is made and the rest is just detail.

This can be expressed as having an absolute belief in the decision. For the purpose of this course, the word decision does not mean a wish or intent to try something. It is firm, resolute, without question. It is marked by the complete absence of doubt. When you absolutely believe something, it begins to materialize in your real world according to the strength of that belief. Nothing happens until you make such a decision.

I give myself permission to have what I want

Once you have made the decision that your goal is worth achieving and putting energy into, make it a priority. You may not have to commit much energy, but be willing to do so if necessary. Pick the one or two most important things you could create in your life and focus on them. Ask yourself, "What is the single most important thing I could create in my life right now?" Then begin to create it.

You can have whatever you believe you can have - and you can begin to have the essence of anything you want right now. Be aware that once you take a decision and you start creating with energy and magnetism, you are going to get what you ask for, usually more easily than you expect.

What most people desire is usually in one of these areas of their life:

- health
- love, family and relationships
- business, career, fulfilling work
- possessions
- financial independence

What is important is that you should:

- have an absolutely clear vision of what it is that you desire
- have an absolute belief that you will achieve it
- have the courage and determination to just do it.

You must describe precisely what you want to create in your life, rather than just money. If you concentrate on house and car goals, for example, the income will often look after itself.

I create what I want easily and effortlessly

Don't put any restrictions on your dreams. Do not think that something you would like to have is too much to ask for. Ask for it anyway! This is a time to engage in unlimited thinking.

Don't feel that you have to create your dreams instantly. The first step to creating them is just having clear pictures of them in your mind. Your thoughts are real. As you get specific about what you would like, your subconscious immediately goes out and begins to create it for you.

You do not need to know when or how it will come.

All you need to do is to get clear about what you want – dare to think big!

I allow myself to have more than I ever dreamed possible

Detachment is also important. Detachment is a mental letting-go, just as surrender is an emotional letting-go. If you feel you can't live without something, and that your well-being is dependent upon your having it, you actually repel what you desire.

When there is no neediness attached to having what you want, you can create it much more easily. It has been said that you can't have something until you don't need it.

3.6.1.1 Exercise:

Decide in specific detail what it is that you intend to create.

That is your goal.

Then write it down – in detail.

3.6.2 - Goals

A goal is an objective. It is something that we wish to create in our life – something that we want to be, to do or to have. It is usually in the areas of – health, relationships, work, possessions or financial situation.

Goal setting is perhaps the most vital and important skill of all peak performance - of all high achievement and all self-motivation.

Those people who are excited and positive and are moving toward the accomplishment of their goals, get even more energy and even more ideas and more creativity. Those who are going nowhere, who have very few ideas or have no goals, even that energy that they have is dissipated.

We know that in the studies of all high performing men and women, they all have goals. We know that the subconscious mind, because of the law of subconscious activity, begins to go to work immediately to bring the goals into reality. It goes to work to make us more alert and aware of opportunities to achieve our goals; it goes to work to bring us ideas, it goes to work to bring us motivations and incentives and insights.

My energy is focused and directed toward my goals

When we set goals, we are on course, on target. We develop purpose, we develop direction, we develop focus to channel energy and we accomplish more in a short time with goals than we could accomplish in years without them.

Our success mechanism is triggered by a goal - and every time we think about our goal, talk about our goal, visualize our goal or write our goal down, we are activating the success mechanism. The distinguishing characteristic of all high performing men and women, more than any other thing, is intensity of purpose, the ability to set a clear, burning purpose and to commit themselves to it with absolute focus.

When you have a clear intention to have something, you generate energy that is focused like a laser beam to go out and get what you want. If you intend to have something, you will have it.

I am in charge of my destiny

Step 7

3.7 - Desire, Belief and Expectation

3.7.1 - Desire

It is important that you set yourself a goal that you intensely desire. Desire is the great motivator – it is an essential element for the achievement of any goal.

What is your one great dream?

What one great thing would you dare to dream if you knew, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that you absolutely could not fail?

This is one of the most important questions of all, because this is really your great dream and your great ambition in life. And, if you can write the answer to this question, it means that you can have it. The very fact that you can think clearly about what the answer is, and that you can write the answer down on paper, means that you are capable of accomplishing it.

You will never get what you want until you know exactly what it is that you do want.

Most people do not see the world for what it is. Indeed, most people do not see it at all. Until you see the world for the wonder it is, or see yourself for the miracle you are, you will not be able to change either of them.

But we can change things. We have the power - we can take control.

3.7.1.1 Exercise:

Write down at least one activity that you would really like to do, something that will bring you joy and increase your energy.

Decide what it is that you wish to create – something that you truly desire in your life – something that will recreate your life the way you would like it to be.

Then write down whatever it is, in as much detail as possible. You can add more detail over time if you wish to.

Write down your one great dream!

3.7.2 - Belief

You must absolutely believe, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that you have the ability to achieve the goal that you set for yourself. For this purpose, you have to make your goals believable; you have to make your goals realistic. If your conscious mind cannot accept the goal, there is no way that your subconscious mind will accept it and go to work to bring it into reality

My beliefs create my reality

You cannot create something if you cannot picture having it. Live out your dreams in your mind; picture or feel yourself getting what you want; hear the words that you will say to others and that they will say to you when your dreams come true. Make your imaginings so real that they feel possible to create, rather than like wishful and distant fantasies.

I believe in my unlimited prosperity

In order to improve your life, first believe that something better exists. Many people think that what they have now is the best that they can create, and they fear making any changes. Start by at least believing that circumstances could be better, that you can have what you want, that it is all right to do what you love with your life. There is always a way that your circumstances can be changed. Focus on creating what you want, not on getting rid of something you don't want.

I give myself permission to have what I want

If you can't believe that something is possible, then you aren't going to have it. But if you can have the smallest thought that it might be possible, then you are already on your way to creating it.

I invite - and allow - good to come into my life

3.7.3. Expectation

The more conviction you have in your ability to achieve your goal, the sooner and the more completely it will be achieved.

The more you can develop an absolute conviction in your ability to achieve your goal, the more rapidly you move toward its achievement. You need to expect the goal to be achieved, with an absolute knowing.

A knowing like you have when you can ride a bicycle and you get on to ride and you don't even consider the possibility of not being able to ride it.

Or a knowing like you have when you can swim and you get into the water – you don't even think about the possibility of not being able to swim, it just does not even occur to you!

I know that abundance is here right now only have to recognize it and accept it I

Step 8

3.8 - Writing and Re-writing

3.8.1 - Writing

Writing your goals down, in complete detail, is the way to program the goal into your subconscious. Write it in vivid, clear, precise detail, exactly as you wish to have it - so your subconscious has a very, very clear representation of what you want to accomplish.

The writing out of your goal is the most important single step that you take because, until a goal is committed to paper, it is not a goal, it is simply a wish.

This is so very important that it is worth buying special note paper or a special note book to write your goals in.

You might like to honour the importance of this by also buying a special pen to write your goals with.

You can accomplish far more by writing your goals out clearly on paper than you can by carrying them around in your head for years and years.

3.8.2 - Rewriting

Write your goals again every morning.

Step 9

3.9 - Affirmations and Visualization

3.9.1 - Affirmations

Affirmations are one of the two essential supports for goal achievement – affirmations and visualization. They will help to power you ahead toward the achievement of your goals.

Daily affirmations that you either say to yourself quietly, or out loud if you are on your own, perhaps driving the car, are probably the most simple and easiest way of creating change in your life.

Affirmations are especially effective when you go to bed and when you wake up in the morning.

When you go to bed, say to yourself several times –
“I wake up in the morning feeling terrific”.

When you wake up in the morning, say to yourself –
“I feel terrific”, with passion and enthusiasm.

Then spend some time rewriting your goals.

Affirm what you want in the present tense, such as,
“I have unlimited abundance”,
and repeat your positive statements frequently.

I like myself

We shall see shortly that you become what you think about. Therefore, if you say over and over to yourself,

"I like myself, I like myself", and if you say it with feeling, with emotion and enthusiasm and believe it, then your overall self-concept goes up. Every time your overall self-concept goes up, your ability to perform in every area of your life increases at the same time.

Saying - "I like myself" - is a totally positive affirmation, which causes us to feel good about ourselves and causes us to perform in a more effective manner in everything that we do.

I am responsible

The more we say,

"I am responsible, I am responsible, I am responsible",

the more we assert complete control over our conscious minds and as long as we are saying,

"I am responsible",

it is impossible for a negative emotion to get rooted and to start growing in our minds.

Next to,

"I like myself",

the most powerful, positive affirmation that we can use to assert complete control over our thoughts, our emotions and our destinies is -

"I am responsible"

to accept full responsibility for our own lives.

I know my value, I honour my worth

Affirmations are an essential aspect of goal setting, affirmations such as - "I like myself", "I am responsible", "I feel terrific", "I am decisive" or "I earn three hundred thousand pounds or dollars a year".

It is repeating these affirmations, over and over again, strongly, with feeling, with confidence, with belief, with enthusiasm, that drives them deep into the subconscious.

There is great power in repeating the thought of something you want over and over. When you got something you wanted in the past, you probably thought about it frequently. Repetition firmly implants the idea of what you want to create in your subconscious, and it goes about bringing you what you think about. You want the thought to be definite and unwavering.

Affirmations are positive thoughts that are repeated over and over. As you repeat them, they go directly to your subconscious where they begin to manifest as your reality. Affirm what you want in the present tense, such as,

"I have unlimited abundance"

and repeat your positive statements frequently.

3.9.1.1 – The Rule of the Four Ps

In order to be accepted by the subconscious, affirmations have to adhere to the rule of the four Ps – personal, positive, present, passion.

First of all, they have to be personal. We have to say 'I', we cannot say 'you' or somebody else. We always have to talk in the first person singular – 'I like myself', "I feel terrific", "I am successful in whatever I do".

(We can not do it for somebody else.)

Second, they have to be positive – say what you desire, not what you do not desire! – "I have a lean, fit body", not "I am not over-weight".

Third, they must be in the present tense. So every affirmation that we make, every clear statement that we make to ourselves, has to be in the present. I do, I am, I have, I achieve, I earn - and it has to be personal.

Fourth, the more passion you put into repeating the affirmations, the more quickly and the more completely the goals will be achieved.

3.9.1.2 - Affirmations exercise

Write down as many affirmations you can think of that are relevant to what you truly desire to create.

There are affirmations throughout the body of this course. You can use any of these that feel right for you – or you can use your own.

Think of affirmations that describe the way you would like to be, what you would like to have, what you would like to do.

You can use the affirmations printed in blue in this session – and add more of your own if you wish to.

Use them first thing in the morning, during the day, and last thing at night. Say each of them several times – with feeling, with passion.

3.9.2 - Visualization

Visualization is the second very powerful way that we can support and strengthen our goals. It is the most powerful single capability that we have, the ability to form a clear, precise, vivid mental picture of the things that we want to be, have or do - and to hold that picture very, very clearly in our mind.

Whatever you can hold in your mind, on a continuous basis, you can be, have or do. Einstein said that your imagination is your preview of life's coming attractions.

Form and replay a detailed, vivid mental picture of what you want to be, have or do very clearly in your mind, with great enthusiasm. Hold a clear picture in your mind of your goal as though it were already in existence right now. And replay that picture every single day.

3.9.2.1 - Mental Rehearsal

Mental Rehearsal is a specific use of visualization. Prior to every situation of importance, take a couple of minutes to play a clear mental picture of the ideal you in the upcoming situation - with exactly the ideal result.

This is called mental rehearsal. It is one of the most important single abilities to develop in moving toward peak performance and high achievement. This is the ability to see every situation through from beginning to end in your mind before you actually get into the situation. Then your subconscious will give you the words, the actions, the gestures, the emotions and the responses that are exactly consistent with the mental picture that you have printed on your brain.

When I was a free-lance systems consultant,

I personally used this technique to win every contract that I applied for!

Remember that the degree of emotion that you mix with your affirmations and with your mental pictures determines the degree to which the subconscious mind is activated to go to work to bring those goals and those objectives into reality in your life.

'Go forward boldly - and unseen forces will come to your aid'

Earl Nightingale

I am increasingly magnetic to money, prosperity and abundance

Get a clear picture that you can hold in your mind of your goal as though it were already in existence right now. And every single day, play that picture of the goal on the screen of your mind, every single time that you get a chance. Play it over and over and over again, so that every time you have a spare moment, you are flashing that picture on your mind.

I am always in the right place at the right time

Every single step up to now, in this course, has brought us to the point where we are capable of forming an absolutely clear, vivid, distinct mental image that we can carry round in our mind. And we will achieve the goal to the exact degree to which we are capable of seeing it with complete clarity within our minds. And the more we think about it, the more clear and precise and sharp that image will become and the more quickly and completely it will come into our lives.

I allow myself to think and dream in unlimited ways

3.9.2.2 - Visualization exercise

Practice visualizing what you desire to be, to do or to have, in as much detail as possible.

Simply sit still for a few minutes, imagining that you already have whatever it is that you desire, picturing whatever it is exactly as you would like to have it.

Step 10

3.10 - Attitude and Passion

3.10.1 - Always Expect the Best from Yourself

You are capable of extraordinary accomplishments, and you should always hold yourself to the highest of expectations. By refusing to settle for anything less than your personal best, you will become a top achiever in your industry and in life.

The world is full of people who are willing to live mediocre lives. Everywhere you go you'll encounter those people who accept the mundane as normal.

But this doesn't mean you have to lower your standards!

Your unique talents allow you to create exactly the kind of life you have always dreamed of having. Master the arts of self-discipline and intentional manifestation - and expect ever-greater levels of personal success.

Your best is a dynamic concept. As you learn and grow, your maximum capabilities are likely to expand and improve. Therefore, you are well within your rights to expect more and more from yourself as your potential for excellence continues to increase.

Avoid frustrating yourself by demanding the impossible, but always strive to achieve slightly beyond your comfort zone. When setting goals in the various areas of your life, select targets that challenge you to push beyond your "normal" abilities, while avoiding the temptation to create unrealistic fantasies.

To put this suggestion into the right frame of reference, consider what the great thinker Henry David Thoreau once said:

“If you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost. There is where they should be. Now put foundations under them.”

Clearly, Thoreau is saying to dream beyond what qualifies as a reasonable goal, and then get to work bringing your dream to life. And the only way to do this is to have the utmost faith in yourself and to comfortably expect greatness as the result of your best efforts.

When you think about what you want from life, envision a grand set of circumstances truly worthy of you. Don't fall into the trap of playing it safe with your dreams, and don't give in to the fear of failure that kills most peoples' dreams before they are even hatched.

Adopting this frame of mind will empower you to create fabulous visions and manifest these visions with confidence. This particular life is the only one you currently have, so don't short-change yourself. Expect the very best you have to offer at all times - and anticipate the best from life at every turn.

We know that since we become what we think about, the most outwardly identifiable characteristic or manifestation of what we are thinking about is our attitude - and we know that a positive mental attitude is an absolutely indispensable prerequisite for success.

At all times, keep your mind and your conversation and all of your thoughts and activities focused on solutions and benefits.

The universe is safe, abundant and friendly

It is essential to eliminate destructive self-criticism. Never criticize yourself for anything - and never allow anybody else to say anything about you that is destructive or negative.

Don't allow negatives about yourself of any kind.

The basic rule is this - never say anything about yourself that you do not sincerely desire to be true.

When we accept responsibility, we look to the future and to what we can do, but when we blame, we look to the past and to what cannot be undone or changed.

I speak of success and prosperity
My words uplift and inspire others

Keep yourself enthusiastic and keep yourself positive by continually thinking about your goals and talking about your goals. Keep your goals foremost in your mind.

Remember that the conscious mind can only hold one thought at a time, positive or negative, and a goal is a positive thought. No matter what happens, always think about your goals.

As long as you keep your mind clearly focused on the goal that you want to accomplish, you must achieve that goal. Any goal that you can hold in your mind on a continuing basis, you can have. Any thought that you can hold in your mind or your imagination will begin to come into your reality.

The very best time to begin using these methods is early in the morning and late in the evening. The subconscious is more amenable to suggestions in the first hour of the day and in the last hour of the day than at any other time.

The last thing to say to yourself in bed is:

"I wake up in the morning feeling terrific, I wake up in the morning feeling terrific, I wake up in the morning feeling terrific".

Let those be the last thoughts that you drop into the subconscious before you go off to sleep.

The first thing that you say when you get up in the morning is:

"I feel terrific, I feel terrific, I feel terrific"

and say it with feeling, say it with enthusiasm, say it as though you actually mean it and you will find that it actually generates a surge of energy and vitality throughout your whole body.

I value my time and energy

The next thing that you do, after you have got up, is to remember that this first hour is a golden opportunity for reprogramming your subconscious. Don't read the newspaper, don't watch television, don't listen to the radio in that first hour. Instead, spend ten to twenty minutes rewriting your goals and focusing on them.

We know from earlier that we become what we think about - and that everything that we are, right now, is the sum total result of everything that we have thought about until now.

I surround myself with things that reflect my aliveness and energy

We also know that everything that we are, or ever will become, will come as a result of the contents of our mind, that we do not achieve our destinies or realize our futures through physical effort at all.

3.10.2 - Channel Positive Energy Into Your Life

Your thoughts and feelings are providing the vibration that creates your life.

What we think and feel strongly about, we manifest into existence.

If we receive 100 units of energy each and every day, with which to live each day and to be creative, many people waste most of it on blame and worry. Many people spend 30 units of creative energy thinking about the past and what might have been, and 30 units worrying about the future and how bad it might be, so that they only have 40 units of energy left with which to live their lives.

No wonder there is so much ill health and sickness around, because so many people are wasting their creative energy and have too little energy left to live happy, productive, creative lives today.

Focus on the positive

The difference between positive thinkers and negative thinkers is very simple - positive thinkers think and talk continually about solutions, and negative thinkers continually think and talk about problems. From this point onward, keep your mind and your conversation and all of your thoughts and activities focused on the various solutions that are possible, with all the benefits.

I give myself permission to be all I can be

You can use the affirmations printed in blue in this session – and add more of your own if you wish to. Use them first thing in the morning, during the day, and last thing at night.

Say each of them several times – with feeling, with passion.

I trust my ever-increasing ability to create abundance

Those people who are excited and positive and are moving toward the accomplishment of their goals, get even more energy and even more ideas and more creativity.

Those who are going nowhere, who have very few ideas or have no goals, even that energy they have is dissipated.

I trust that everything comes at the perfect time and in the perfect way

Step 11

3.11 - Appreciation and Gratitude

3.11.1 - Appreciation

Gratitude acknowledges your power and ability to create. It focuses your attention on what you have – and what you pay attention to increases. It is a constant reminder to yourself of how abundant the universe is and how you can trust its unending flow. Appreciation is a state of mind that magnetizes money and abundance to you.

I appreciate all that I am and all that I have Appreciating yourself and thanking the universe motivates your subconscious to create even more good in your life. Appreciation is reflected in your attitude, and your attitude can either magnetize or repel money. Many successful businessmen write thank you letters or send gifts to those who assist them. Thanking the universe for your abundance, either by mentally saying "thank you" or acknowledging your gratitude aloud, will multiply your prosperity.

I appreciate myself

Every time you say "thank you" to yourself, you instill confidence in your ability to create what you want. Begin by thanking the universe for every small thing that comes your way, appreciate how far you have come and all that you have already accomplished, and you will overcome your fears and doubts.

Give thanks for all the things you take for granted – the place you live in, the friends who love you, the food on your table. Do not label what you have now as inadequate, but instead begin thanking the universe for it.

By doing this, you are making yourself magnetic to even more good things. Pretending that you are increasing your feelings of satisfaction and happiness, plus intending to have more good things appear in your life, is all that is required.

I give thanks for my wonderful life

Feeling continual gratitude for the blessings in your life creates the vibration that will attract even more good things to you. This is one of the most important concepts to grasp when practising the laws of attraction.

Acknowledge your friends and family - be grateful for your family and friends, and you will find more friends come into your life.

Those who complain about lack and live in a state of dissatisfaction with what they have are telling the universe to stop sending blessings their way. It is only when we are grateful and pleased with the abundance already in our lives that we can readily attract even more to us.

I know that being grateful can bring about more abundance

3.11.1.1 Gratitude exercise

Write down all that you already have that you can be grateful for – family, friends, health, possessions.

3.11.2 - Honour Yourself

Express gratitude to yourself – for all that you have done, and all you are doing.

Take small actions that honour yourself – preferably every day if you can.

You are worth it!

Perhaps you would like to soak in a warm bath, buy flowers for your house, or take half an hour for yourself every day. Nurturing activities give your subconscious a message that you are a worthy person who deserves to have your goals met.

Step 12

3.12 - Life's Work and Life Purpose

3.12.1 - Discovering Your Life's Work

I have a unique, special contribution to make

Remember that every single one of us is endowed by nature with the ability to achieve excellence or outstanding accomplishment in at least one specific area. Every single person is put on the earth for a unique purpose. Nobody is created at random, every one of us has something valuable and special to contribute to the human race.

Every one of us can be excellent, can be outstanding in at least one area and one of our major responsibilities as an adult is to find our area of great potential and to channel our energies and abilities into becoming excellent in that area.

Every single successful man and woman who has ever made a contribution to the world in any area has found their area of excellence. Then they have channelled their time and talent and ability and energy into becoming outstanding in at least that one area.

I am alert to my opportunities and I use them well

In establishing our goals, one of our goals has to be to think in terms of where we can develop excellence. You can only become excellent doing what you love to do. One of our prime responsibilities is to find what we love to do as adults and then to spend the time and the effort and the energy in order to become excellent in that area.

You can tell where your potential area of excellence is:

- by looking at what interests you
- by looking at what attracts your attention
- by looking at the sort of things you would do if you were not being paid for them at all
- by looking at the sort of things you would do if you had no limitations whatever on your abilities.

We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give.

- Winston Churchill

3.13 - Summary and Conclusion

3.13.1 - Essential Daily Tools

These are the essential tools and techniques that will enable you to create whatever you truly desire.

3.13.1.1. Decision

Decide in specific detail what it is that you intend to create – your goal.

3.13.1.2. Desire

It is important that you set a goal that you intensely desire. Desire is the great motivator - it is an essential element for the achievement of any goal.

3.13.1.3. Belief

You must absolutely believe, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that you have the ability to achieve the goal that you set for yourself.

3.13.1.4. Writing

Write your goals down in complete detail, to program them into your subconscious.

3.13.1.5. Rewrite your goals every morning.

3.13.1.6. Expectation

The more conviction you have in your ability to achieve your goal, the sooner and the more completely it will be achieved.

3.13.1.7. Affirmations

Repeat your goals over and over to yourself, observing the rule of the four Ps - personal, positive, present and with passion.

Daily affirmations that you either say to yourself quietly, or out loud if you are on your own, perhaps driving the car, are probably the most simple and easiest way of effecting change in your life.

Saying "I like myself", "I feel terrific", "I am responsible", changes the way you feel about yourself, makes you feel good about yourself, and powers you forward to perform everything that you do much more effectively.

Affirmations are especially effective when you go to bed and when you wake up in the morning.

When you go to bed, say to yourself several times – "I wake up in the morning feeling terrific".

When you wake up in the morning, say to yourself – "I feel terrific" - with passion and enthusiasm.

Then spend some time rewriting your goals.

3.13.1.8. Visualisation

Form and replay a detailed, vivid mental picture of what you want to be, to have or to do very clearly in your mind, with great enthusiasm. Hold a clear picture in your mind of your goal as though it were already in existence right now. And replay that picture every single day.

3.13.1.9. Attitude

We become what we think about, so a positive mental attitude is an absolutely indispensable prerequisite for success. At all times, keep your mind and your conversation and all of your thoughts and activities focused on solutions and benefits.

It is essential to eliminate destructive self-criticism. Never criticize yourself for anything and never allow anybody else to say anything about you that is destructive or negative. Don't allow negatives about yourself of any kind.

The basic rule is this - never say anything about yourself that you do not sincerely desire to be true. When we accept responsibility, we look to the future and to what we can do, but when we blame, we look to the past and to what cannot be undone or changed.

3.13.1.10. Appreciation

Appreciation is a state of mind that attracts more abundance and beauty to you. The more you demonstrate a sense of joy, enthusiasm and appreciation for what you already have, the more good things you will attract into your life. Talk about your visions and your dreams – speak of what is good in your life right now.

Create a vision of abundance and soon the world will reflect it back to you.

3.13.1.11. Honour Yourself

Take small actions that honour yourself. Perhaps you would like to soak in a warm bath, buy flowers for your house, or take half an hour for yourself every day. Nurturing activities give your subconscious a message that you are a worthy person who deserves to have your goals met.

3.13.2 - Exercise

Write or print the eleven Essential Daily Tools, so that you can carry them with you at all times to remind you to use them every day!

Conclusion

If you can have the smallest thought that it might be possible to create what you desire, you are already on your way to creating it.

It is important that you:

- have an absolutely clear vision of what it is that you truly desire
- have taken a decision to achieve it
- have an absolute belief that you will achieve it
- have the expectation, the knowledge, that you will create it.

We can only change our world for ourselves - we cannot change the world for other people.

As you become specific about what you would like, your subconscious immediately goes out and begins to create it for you. You do not have to know when or how it will come. All you need to do is to get clear about what you want – dare to think big! – and think about it all of the time!!

Sometimes we receive something even better than we ask for.

Thank you so very much for working your way through this course with me.
I send you all good wishes for your future happiness and prosperity.
